ORDER OF MOOSE

Prize fights will not be permitted in Salt Lake county outside of the incorporated cities says Deseret News
This decision was reached by Sheriff Joseph C. Sharp this morning when he notified Promoter R. Alexander Grant, protege of County Attorney Jop P. Lyon, that no more fights or boxing contests would be allowed at Satlair whether it was for one round for twenty. When the appropriment or twenty. When the announcement was made, it sent a host of "meal ticket" prize fighters scurrying to cover. These pugs have infested Salt Lake City for several months, and particularly since the limit was taken off and 20 round slugging matches were allowed at Satlair by County

The promoters of prize fights will not be allawed to advertise fights and the first effort that is made to pull off a bout means that warrants will be issued for the arrest of the promoters as well as the principals. Sheriff Sharp has taken this stand because prize fights are against the law and he intends to enforce it. While it is not Sheriff Sharp's duty to step in and swear to complaints, he realizes that the decent and law abiding people of Salt Lake want the fight stopped and he intends to see that no more are held in this jurisdiction. Where Fights Are Held.

Outside of Saltair, there are two placees where prize fights are held. These two clubs, the Manhattan club nd the Salt Lake Athletic club are incorporated and in Salt Lake City. The Manhattan club holds its prize fights at the Salt Palace saucer track and the other has leased the audi-torium in the heart of the city. Sheriff Sharp will take no action against these clubs at present. He feels that it is not his duty to police Salt Lake City when the people are paying for a police force to do this work. Grant a Figure Head.

Grant began his prize fight promo ing in Ogden. Ater pulling off two or three fights there he put in the opening wedge in the game in Salt Lake. Backed by Frank E. Eldredge and some other prominent men in the sporting element, Grant leased the Coliseum at Saltair and began adthe Sullivan-Thompson vertising fight about five days before it was pulled off. The men had been in training for the bout and the pro-moters had been assured that the fight would not be interfered with by County Aattorney Job P. Lyon, unless mebody came in and swore out a These arrangements were seen to before the fight was ever advertised.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 18 .- The state food and dairy commissioners have started a compaign against the foreign vendors of ice cream who are seen in large numbers about the streets of the residence district at present. It is said that many of them are handling their ice cream in an unsanitary manner.

Last night Deputy Inspector J. E. Johnson stopped one vender who was selling ice cream from a wagon to "The man" said Mr. Johnson, "evidently had been out all day with his wagon. He used a spoon to place the ice cream in cones. The spoon was dipped into a small pail of water which was black with dirt and was then used in dipping the cream from the cans. His hands were filthy and he handled the cones. He had been handling the reins and getting out and in the wagon all day. I forced him to wash his hands and then instructed him that he would have one more chance. If he is found with dirty hands again he will be arrested. There are others in the same con dition, and we expect to bring the practice to an end. Growns persons

SHURTCIFF FAILS TO IDENTIFY MEN

Victim of Hold-Ups Says Eberhard and Kennedy Are Not the Men.

Young Eberhard Has a Great Many Callers at the City Jail.

H. H. Shurtliff, who was held up in company with Josh Middleton by men supposed to have been the Japanese mission holdups and murderers of Saburo Ichimura, visited the city jail last evening for the purpose of identifying if possible the men Ken-nedy and Eberhard, who have been held as suspects for nearly a week.

Shurtliff was conducted to the upper corridors of the jail where the prisoners are confined and they were ordered to line up for his inspection. Fails to Identify Men.

After carefully scrutinizing their faces and general appearance for several minutes, Shurtliff said that he was positive that they are not the men who had held him up. He thought that both faces were familiar to him as men whom he had seen about town, but as to their being the holdups, he was reasonably certain that they are not. Kennedy, the taller of the two, is, in his opinion, at least two inches taller than the cations for membership have been received from Ogden citizens. The organizers of the local lodge have esorganizers of the local lodge have established headquarters at 277 Twentygun on him and is certain that he would recognize him.

Before leaving the jail Shurtliff created something of a sensation by asserting that another prisoner, held on another charge, resembles the holdup much more than does either Kennedy or Eberhard. Eberhard Has Many Callers.

Eberhard is evidently not without friends and admirers. Some of the employes of the industrial school and several women visited him yesterday one of them returning a second time Eberhard has confessed that he is wanted in Salt Lake for cattle stealing and was apparently in hopes that by getting himself returned there at once he would escape the which have been against him in connection with the murder of the Japanese. It is also quite evident that the ma-

ority of the police are of the opinion that Kennedy and Eberhard are not the actual robbers, although it is thought that both of them possess knowledge of the crime that was committed and not only knew of the the crime and he will be arraigned contemplated raid, but remarked about it early in the evening the night before the holdup took place.

The complaints formally charging

Wilson at first put up so strong a bluff that Detective Pender was conthe men with the murder of Ichi-mura were issued yesterday, but were vinced that they had captured the not served in time for an arraignment on account of a delay in ascertaining wrong man and he was released. The fellow was highly indignant at being the wrereabouts of one of the Japaaccused of such an offense and did nest who are wanted not hesitate to tell the police what he thought of their high-handed methpapers. He was located later and will be in Ogden Monday morning before the convening of police court.

A few hours afterward, however, Detective Pender located the revolver which had been stolen from he office mentioned, it having been left at the Turf saloon druing the day. It was also ascertained that Wilson was the man who had left the weapon at the saloon and that he had spent about six dollars in nickles about own.

Roosevelt and the Rough Riders. While Roosevelt and his escort were waiting in their carriage for the head of the parade to form, the one hundred and forty-four rough riders who had come from every part of the country, some of them from as far as Alaska—had their first chance to greet their old chief.

As the Roosevelt carriages drew up behind them, them gave a long The colonel was on his wild yell. feet in an instant.

"I certainly love all my boys" he shouted back and again there was a ell almost hysterical in intensity. The parade started at 10:30. Leading the line was a detachment of mounted police. Then came the mounted band of squadron A. New York national guard, the rough riders, the Roosevelt carriage and eighty other carriages in which rode the visiting mayors, governors, members of the staff, members of the senate and members of the reception committee. Eight mounted policemen, al formerly cavalrymen, who served in the Spanish-American war surrounded the Roosevelt carriage. The line of march in the lower city was through a seathing whirlpool of en-thusiasm. The tall cliffs of the canyon that is broadway, were specked with faces at the windows. Everything imaginable was waved, below and aloft. Whirls of descending tissue paper thrown from the windows filled the air with spirals.

Very Enthusiastic Himself. Colonel Roosevelt was as enthusiastic as the crowd. His face grew redder, his smile broadened, standing erect in his carriage. He remained standing almost constantly throughout the two hours journe;

The convolutions of ticker tape ape wound around the necks of the horses and fairly enmeshed the colonel himself, when it seemed as if he had fallen into a ticker basket. But he seemed to like it and waved a string of tape in one hand while he raised and lowered his hat with the other.

Shortly after the parade passed city hall park, a woman leaning from a window of a factory in which babies hats are made, tosed out a half dozen of tiny bonnets toward the carriage Leaning he caught one of them, in spected it gravely and then broke in to a broad smile. A woman with two bables in her arms stood at the curb His keen eye spied her instantly and up went two fingers, one for each baby. Something that he shouted was lost in the din

Above Bleecker street, still in the downtown district, a man with magaphone velled: Who'll be our next president?"

As though by prearranged signal, the crowd answered "Teddy" in one stentorian shout Teddy, Teddy, Teddy."

All through the parade, it was Teddy, Teddy, Teddy, bully for you Teddy, eat 'em alive, good boy,

The colonel bowed, smiled and bowed again.

As the parade swung through

Fourth street into Washington Square and thence into Fifth avenue, Spanish war vetrans-other than the rough riders-fell into line behind, with the Roosevelt neighbors and with the Roosevett heighbors and New York political clubs, winding up the procession. Then the band played the classic of the Spanish war. "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight."

At Fifty-ninth street, where Central Park begins the parade disbanded. Colonel Roosevelt was driven to the home of Theron Butler, where he met for the first time, at luncheon, all the members of his family reassembled. He left the house at 3 p. m. in an automobile for an inspection of the wedding presents to Miss Alexander who will become the wife of Theodore Roosevelt, jr., next Monday. him went Mrs. Roosevelt, Theodore, green, carnations and roses being used ir., Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, in profusion. votion. And I want also to thank the New York police for the wonderful work they have done today. I am proud that I was once one of them. Good night." Shortly after the train drew out of the station. Whenever it passed through a town, the engineer slowed lown, while the colonel waved a silk handkerchief to cheering crowds.

OYSTER BAY, June 18 .- Theodore Roosevelt is back once more among his neighbors. He arrived from New York at 6 o'clock on a special train over the Long Island railroad engaged by the Roosevelt Neighbors' association of Nassau county, 400 nembers making the trip with him. The whole town was out at the station and the cheering throng almost swept the ex-president from his feet as he stepped to the Bowing and shaking hands with his other friends, he walked through the mud to the ball park, where a grand stand had been erected. About 3,000 persons gathered on the green. Five hundred high school pupils were the first to do the honors. They sang 'Home Again.'

Then William J. Youngs, United States district attorney, delivered the address, to which Colonel Roosevelt replied as follows:

"My friends and neighbors, I hope I need not say how glad I am to see you and be with you again. My trip began the 23d of March a year ago when you bade me good-bye at the could be a seed that the seed that is the ending when station and this is the ending, when get through speaking. It is good to see you again at the station and walk up behind the band.

"I enjoyed hearing the children sing and I hope that there are some children present from the sa school that my children attended.

"I am glad to see you all again, men, women and little oysters. A normal school boy passes his time in state of semi-warfare at his elbows and I suppose I was no excep-tion to the rule, but those who knew me as a small boy seem to have for-given me by this time.

"I can't say how much these home-comings to Oyster Bay have meant to me in the last dozen years. I know you all and I do not think there is one among you with whom I am not on good footing. I never forget the welcome you gave me when I came back from the Spanish-American war. "I have had a most interesting trip and enjoyed it very much, llons and everything. Perhaps I enjoyed it a little more on account of the llons. I started at the head waters of the Nile, where the people are in a state of savagery, and finished up at the most highly civilized capital in the world. I enjoyed everything Africa and Europe and the capitals of Europe and their rulers.

'But this is not the occasion to talk of my trip. Some day I shall tell you all about it. This is merely a greeting and I wish to thank you

"It touched me deeply to have so many of my neighbors come to New York and take part in the welcome and in the parade. But it touched me more deeply to see you all here; to live among you again, as I have for the last forty years; to take up my duties. "The first duty of a man is in his own family Before a man can aspire to reform a nation he must turn his attention to the folks at home."

One newspaper after the speech sought an interview: "There is nothing more that I can say," replied the colonel. "One thing I want now is absolute privacy. I want to close up like a native oyster. I will go to New York

Monday to attend my boy's wedding and I will go to the city on Wednes-day to see to my editorial duties. I hope you representatives of the press will not come up to Sagamore Hill because I have nothing to say, Roosevelt walked down the main

With Colonel Roosevelt in his private car on the train were Mrs. Roosevelt, Congressman and Mrs. Longworth, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. and his flancee, Miss Alexander, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Kermit, Quentin and Archibald Roosevelt, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and Representative Cocks from Roosevelt's home district. Senator Lodge spent the night at Sagamore Hill.
